Publishing is the second part of Writing:

There are really three parts of the process of being a writer/author:

Writing --

Publishing --

Marketing --

This workshop will be concentrating on getting published .

Workshop Leader

Mr. Jackson is an Information Specialist. A retired Special Librarian in Academic, Public, Corporate, and Prison libraries, he has taught research to Ph.D. candidates, and published a wide variety of articles, along with self-publishing several small books, and re-publishing and editing a multi-media book on CD-ROM. He is currently Editor of Plateau Area Writers Association's Quarterly and anthology series, Contrasts.

In the late 1960s he was Information Manager for a Music Publishing Services firm, TRO, Inc., New York City.

He is a member of several musical ensembles and volunteers as church librarian. His career positions are recorded in Who's Who in America, Who's Who International, and a profile at his web site: www.trescottresearch.com

Ways and Means

There are essentially three areas to the writing endeavor: Writing, Publishing, and Marketing. For this workshop we will be focusing on Publishing.

Writers who are serious about their writing and what they may be able to share with the world, very strongly desire to be published. Some want and need and should be paid for their creative efforts.

We will be outlining and working with the processes for doing so in three sessions.
